For the purpose of informing interested University of Tennessee-Knoxville faculty, please be aware of the following opportunity. Please note that the other recipients of this announcement could be potential collaborators on this opportunity.

NIJ-2010-2435: Research on Eyewitness Identification Policies and Procedures

The National Institute of Justice (NIJ), Office of Justice Programs (OJP), U.S. Dept. of Justice (DOJ), is soliciting applications for funding to conduct research on eyewitness identification practices to improve understanding of these practices and of how law enforcement policies and operations at the State and local levels may impact eyewitness identification outcomes. Specifically, NIJ is interested in proposals that seek to (A) conduct research on the current eyewitness identification practices of police departments and (B) examine the impact of photo array policies and procedures on eyewitness identification outcomes in a number of police departments. This solicitation does not address subjective or legal analyses of validity or the probative value of evidence.

For detailed information about this opportunity please see the full solicitation (NIJ-2010-2435). To find more opportunities from this agency, please see here.

It is estimated that $1.5M will be available to support 2 - 4 awards. Cost sharing is not required. Please see the full solicitation for complete award information.

Deadline for Proposal to OR-Sponsored Programs: 6/07/2010
