For the purpose of informing interested University of Tennessee-Knoxville faculty, please be aware of the following opportunity. Please note that the other recipients of this announcement could be potential collaborators on this opportunity.

RFA-519-10-A-08: Building Resilience (BR) Program

The U.S. Agency for International Development is soliciting concepts for proposals that will outline necessary efforts in recovery and rehabilitation activities of disaster affected families and communities and capacity building activities for risk reduction, planning, and preparedness for disasters. Focus areas include housing and basic services associated with housing programs for disaster affected and relocated families and communities and improved community and personal resilience to risks and vulnerabilities to disasters. New and fresh ideas about how to make communities resilient through innovative risk reduction interventions should be explored.

For detailed information about this opportunity (RFA-519-10-A-08) please see the announcement (attached). To find more opportunities from this agency, please see here.

It is estimated that $842K will be available to support 2 awards. Cost sharing is required. Please see the full solicitation for complete award information.
