For the purpose of informing interested faculty, please be aware of the following opportunity:

USAID-M-OAA-DCHA-DOFDA-10-390: USAID/DCHA/CMM FY 10 Conflict Mitigation and Reconciliation Programs and Activities

The Bureau for Democracy, Conflict, and Humanitarian Assistance, Office of Conflict Management and Mitigation, U.S. Agency for International Development, is seeking applications that support “people-to-people” conflict mitigation and reconciliation programs and activities which bring together individuals of different ethnic, religious or political backgrounds from areas of civil conflict and war in the countries of interest (see solicitation).

“People-to-people” programs are one approach among many to conflict mitigation. This solicitation is intended to fund conflict mitigation programs with a people-to-people approach, and to derive lessons learned and best practices for future people-to-people programming. Lessons learned will be incorporated into future programs and solicitations, and will inform DCHA/CMM’s research agenda for conflict management and mitigation.

Successful applications under this solicitation will describe a people-to-people approach based on a context and conflict analysis that leads to a concrete program change hypothesis. Programs should be based on best practices, build capacity of local partners, and incorporate gender analysis into the proposed approach.

For detailed information about this opportunity please see the announcement (attached). To find more opportunities from this agency, please see here.

Approximately $16M is expected to be available to support multiple awards. Cost sharing is not required. Please see the full solicitation for complete award information.
