The Congressionally Directed Medical Research Programs (CDMRP), U.S. Army, U.S. Department of Defense, is soliciting proposals for the Peer Reviewed Cancer Research Program (PRCRP). The goal of the PRCRP is to improve quality of life by decreasing the impact of cancer on service members, their families, and the American public. The PRCRP fosters groundbreaking and collaborative research to accelerate progress in cancer prevention, detection, and therapeutic interventions. FY10 PRCRP funds appropriated by Congress are directed for research in the following areas:

- Melanoma and other skin cancers;
- Pediatric brain tumors;
- Genetic cancer research and genomic medicine;
- Kidney cancer;
- Blood cancers;
- Colorectal cancer;
- Listeria vaccine for cancer;
- Radiation protection utilizing nanotechnology.
A pre-proposal is required. Offerors of pre-proposals receiving favorable initial review will be encouraged to submit a more detailed full proposal.
